Only Thing Now For League Leaders is to Clinch Flag

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Only a matter of mathematical possibilities now stands between the Giants and Athletics and the pennants in their respective leagues. Monday may see Connie Mack's men past the point which will give them the flag even if they lose all their remaining games. Not many days afterward the players under John McGraw's tutelage should find themselves in a similar impregnable position. With the completion of the Cleveland rout and the failure of the Phillies to do better than break even in a week when they had to close up their rivals, if ever, the pennant races in the two major organizations were over.

The New York Nationals may be expected in the week just opening to play their hardest so that the clinching game may be won at the earliest possible date. Likewise the Athletics are looked to for an earnest effort to come out on the winning side in the double-header with Chicago Monday, the bagging of which would put them past the possibility of being overhauled. The quicker the leaders in each circuit complete this process, the longer the time left to groom their veterans, particularly their boxmen for the world's series contests to be staged at Fenway grounds and Shibe park early next month.

Fight For Positions.
out the schedule in a way best suited to the safely landed winners, it will be merely a question of playing to condition the post-season contenders. Among the rest of the clubs, however, there still remain several pretty fights for position, some of which may not be decided until the season's very close. In particular the Cleveland-Washington battle for second place in the American league is exciting keen interest. From possible winners of the flag, Birmingham's men now find themselves driven to a place where they must fight their hardest even to hold the next to the top position they have occupied for so many months.

TED COY AS COACH.
Ted Coy, the former Yale captain, is expected in New Brunswick Thursday to help coach the Rutgers football team.

INDIANS ARE STRONG.
Football coaches who went to Carlisle Saturday to see the Indians in action, were favorably impressed by the latent strength of the Redskins. The only other contest of importance showed the University of Maine to be in none too good condition for its tussle with Harvard on Saturday.

HARVARD IS HUSKY.
When Harvard goes into action in its opening game with the University of Maine, a gridiron machine averaging 185 to a man will take the field for the Crimson. Brickley, Hardwick and Bradlee are slated for the backs.

COACH IS CHERISHED.
Norman Harwood, formerly quarterback of the University of Virginia, who is assisting Coach Thorp with Fordham University's football squad, introduced an ovation. At his suggestion Thorp placed heavily padded shorts in the scrub field and intended to instruct his backs just how to pick an opening and then break through. The backs will run at full speed between the posts.

RAIN AT PRINCETON.
Heavy rains for the past forty-eight hours have turned the Princeton field into a sea of mud and seriously interferes with practice.

BERGER TO CHICAGO.
The prospects of the Wisconsin football aggregation were dimmed by the announcement that Louis Berger, last year's reserve halfback, who was depended on as a star this season, will attend Chicago university. Moffett, counted on as this year's fullback, will not be in line.

STAGG OPTIMISTIC.
Coach Stagg, Chicago, today issued a statement in which he said he was starting this season with the most promising material he had ever faced at the beginning of a football year.

now displaying. The Red Sox had a good week of it, chiefly through the excellent work of Collins and Bedard in the box.

The Philadelphia Nationals, even though they have failed to maintain a steady enough pace through to bring them up to the flag winning point, nevertheless have made a fine season's run of it, and are not threatened as are the runners-up in the American with the loss of second place.

Pittsburgh seems settled in fourth place, something of a drop for last year's second position team, but Brooklyn and Boston are having a hard struggle to decide who shall head the second division. The Superbas had the call at the end of the playing week by a one-point margin.

Cincinnati, which has been playing at considerably better than a .500 clip recently, has a fighting chance to beat out either Boston or Brooklyn.

There will be no one, from present appearances, to dispute third place with the Cubs, who will therefore finish under Evans in the same rank that they did last year under Chance but without having at any time, as they were for awhile last year, serious contenders for the flag.

PROLONGING LIFE IN DIABETES

On Monday, Sept. 6th, 1912, San Francisco dailies published an offer that is unique, as follows:

"To show that Codina containing optimum which locks up secretions, commonly used in Diabetes is wrong and that Fulton's Diabetes Compound, which contains no optimum or sedatives but promotes secretions, is right, we will say that if four physicians of good standing in this city will send up a Diabetic between fifty and seventy years of age, strong enough to walk at our office, showing high specific gravity blood and a large quantity of sugar, we will with this mild infusion to help the liver oxidize the sugar and recoveries, attempt to return him, in sixty days with half of the sugar eliminated, with thirst symptoms largely reduced and the road to recovery. If we fail we will publish the fact; if we succeed the physicians to acknowledge it. We want a patient whom we can both trust. This offer is not in the nature of a contest, but to demonstrate that life can be prolonged or recovered had in many cases of Diabetes now lying under coddin."

If you have Diabetes and are of middle age or over you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Diabetes Compound before giving up. It can be had at Woods & Striessel, Public Drug Store.

THOUSANDS VIEW BODY OF GAYNOR

Unmindful of Heavy Downpour of Rain, New York Pays Last Tribute to Its Departed Executive.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—In a double line that never seemed to decrease in length as the day wore on, thousands of persons Sunday filed through the flower-filled rotunda of the city hall and past the body of Wm. J. Gaynor, lying in state. Unmindful of a heavy downpour of rain in the morning, frequent showers during the afternoon and threatening skies Sunday night, the people came in a continuous stream silently to find places in the long, slow marching procession that extended for a half mile along lower Broadway and through city hall park to the city hall. It was New York's spontaneous tribute to its dead mayor.

In the long line were street cleaners in their white uniforms, policemen, firemen and men high in the official life of the city and state, but for the most part, the procession was made up from the great so-called middle class. About a fifth of the crowd were women and children and many of the latter carried small wreaths, or bouquets of flowers which they placed near the coffin.

75,000 View Body.
At 9 o'clock the police on duty at the city hall estimated that more than 75,000 persons had viewed the body. The line was still forming at a late hour tonight and Mayor Kline issued an order to keep the rotunda open until 4 o'clock tomorrow morning if necessary so that all who came might pay their tribute to the dead mayor.

"It is a remarkable tribute," Mayor Kline said as he viewed the great silent throng. "No king, no emperor ever had a tribute paid him like this great outpouring of citizens today. It is a tribute from the hearts of the people."

All last night the police kept guard around the city hall park and had difficulty in keeping the crowds moving as many tried even to an inordinately late hour to get in line to view the body.

Three policemen and three firemen in reliefs of half hour, stood rigidly at attention during the night beside the coffin, which was draped in the stars and stripes and the mayor's flag, while beneath could be seen the colors of the union jack placed there at the request of the Gaynor family in recognition of the courtesy extended by the city of Liverpool upon the arrival of the mayor's body in that city after his death at sea. Crossed branches of palms of victory were the only floral decorations on the cover of the coffin. Those branches were sent by the family. Behind the bier hung the draped picture of Mayor Gaynor.

Many Pathetic Incidents.
Pathetic incidents were numerous as men and women whom the late mayor had befriended, looked upon his face. Among them was a Brooklyn youth whose past Mayor Gaynor took when it was alleged he was being persecuted by the police and which resulted in an investigation and also the removal of the boy's picture from the rogne's gallery.

An old lady was heard to murmur, "God rest his soul," as she paused beside the coffin. She explained that Mayor Gaynor's order closing the saloons at 1 o'clock had saved her boy from evil companions with whom he loafed in these places.

Two aged women who hobbled into the city hall on crutches, delayed the movement of the line several seconds as they said a prayer.

While the thousands journeyed downtown to pay their respects in person, thousands of others attended memorial services in many churches in all parts of the city.

The public funeral services for Mayor Gaynor will be held from Trinity church at 11 o'clock Monday and will be conducted by Bishop Greer. Services for the overflow crowd will be held at St. Paul's chapel, a few blocks distant. The funeral procession will move from the city hall at 10:30 o'clock down Broadway to Trinity church. A regiment of police will lead the procession in which there will be 200 firemen and delegations from every city department.

At noon the procession will move from Trinity church to Brooklyn bridge and thence to Greenwood cemetery, the place of interment.
